

Streamline the quote-to-cash process

The Intacct-Salesforce Connector brings together the best-in-class cloud financial management solution with the industry-leading cloud CRM solution. What does that mean to you? A full view of every customer. A streamlined, automated quote-to-cash process that saves time and reduces errors. And more productive communication between the department that makes the numbers and the department that manages them.

Key benefits

Point-and-click integration

It's easy to integrate Intacct with Salesforce: just point, click, and connect. The Intacct-Salesforce Connector is pre-built on the Salesforce platform, so there's no need for expensive third-party integration, IT support, or custom consulting.

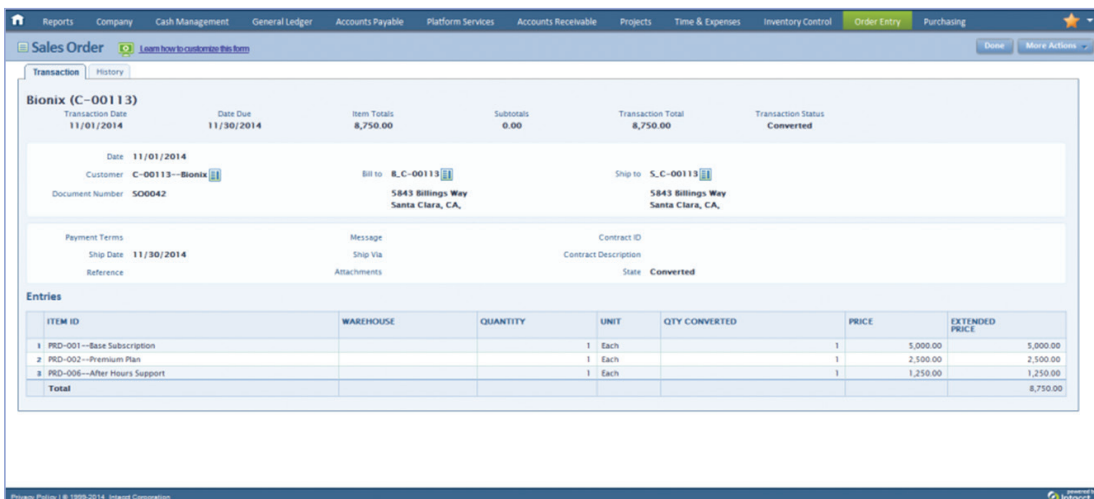

No more blind spots

Tight and complete integration ensures Intacct and Salesforce are always up to date with the latest information, including product and price lists. Sales teams can verify pricing in real time and get visibility into the timing and financial impact of revenues, renewals, upgrades, and more—all from within your CRM system. And Salesforce Chatter, embedded right inside Intacct, enables your sales and finance teams to better communicate with each other.

Effortless efficiency

Get a fully automated, paper-free order-to-cash process: Convert Salesforce quotes into Intacct orders with a single click, and automatically trigger invoicing and revenue recognition. Use Intacct Project Accounting to create and track customer projects from the Salesforce account screen, then drill down to see individual project details.

The screenshot shows the Intacct 'Sales Order' interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with tabs for Reports, Company, Cash Management, General Ledger, Accounts Payable, Platform Services, Accounts Receivable, Projects, Time & Expenses, Inventory Control, Order Entry (highlighted), and Purchasing. Below the navigation bar, the main content area displays details for a sales order titled 'Bionix (C-00113)'. The order date is 11/01/2014 and the due date is 11/30/2014. The item total is 8,750.00, with a subtotal of 0.00 and a transaction total of 8,750.00. The transaction status is 'Converted'. The customer is 'C-00113-Bionix' with document number 'S00042'. The bill-to and ship-to addresses are both '5843 Billings Way, Santa Clara, CA'. The payment terms are 'Net 30' and the ship date is 11/30/2014. The contract ID is 'S.C-00113'. Below these details is an 'Entries' table with columns for ITEM ID, WAREHOUSE, QUANTITY, UNIT, QTY CONVERTED, PRICE, and EXTENDED PRICE. The table lists three items: PRD-001 (Base Subscription), PRD-002 (Premium Plan), and PRD-006 (After Hours Support), with a total of 8,750.00.

ITEM ID	WAREHOUSE	QUANTITY	UNIT	QTY CONVERTED	PRICE	EXTENDED PRICE

2 PRD-002—Premium Plan			1 Each		2,500.00	2,500.00
3 PRD-006—After Hours Support			1 Each		1,250.00	1,250.00
Total						8,750.00

Convert Salesforce quotes into Intacct orders with a single click, eliminating manual data reentry.

Key features

Efficiency and collaboration

One-time data entry: Achieve greater accuracy and save time by eliminating the need for finance to re-enter customer and order information.

Up-to-date shared data: Work with up-to-date and consistent product, pricing, and customer data from both Intacct and Salesforce.

One-click quote conversion: Easily turn Salesforce quotes into Intacct orders.

One-click project creation: Create projects and tasks from a Salesforce opportunity.

Project visibility: View projects and tasks that have been booked for an opportunity, and track project status, from Salesforce.

Multi-location support: Tie Salesforce orders to the correct entities for accurate multi-entity financial management.

Salesforce Chatter integration: Help sales and finance teams communicate more efficiently—to clarify policies, resolve exceptions, and more—by extending Salesforce Chatter to Intacct users (Intacct Collaborate).

Sales productivity

Automatic generation of renewal sales opportunities: Keep renewal sales on track by creating opportunities based on original contract terms plus desired price adjustments.

Order visibility: Give sales teams access to order histories, inventory status, and fulfillment status from within Salesforce.

Real-time visibility into invoicing, payments, and aging: More carefully manage credit/sales situations—all from within Salesforce.

Finance productivity

Automatic initiation of finance processing: Trigger invoicing and revenue recognition when an order from Salesforce is recorded.

Automatic order/billing/payment updates: Automatically update Salesforce with the latest information to reduce ad-hoc information requests from sales.

Account details synchronization: Give the finance department visibility into account details from within Intacct.

Email templates: Ensure better communications—use built-in email templates to notify your sales reps and your customers about pending renewals.

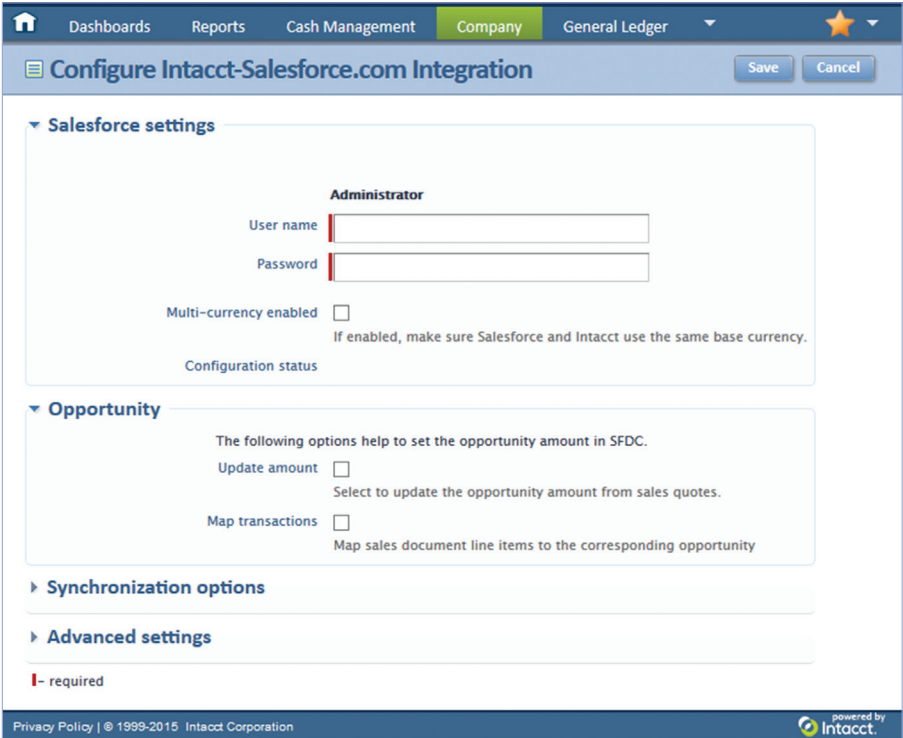

The screenshot displays the Salesforce interface for a customer named Bionix. The account details section shows the account owner as Mark Handberg, with various contact information and a list of sales orders. Below the account details, there are two tables: 'Sales Orders' and 'Sales Invoices'. The 'Sales Orders' table has columns for Action, Sales Order No, Date, Document Number, Document Type, Opportunity, State, Subtotal, and Total. The 'Sales Invoices' table has columns for Action, Sales Invoice No, Date, Opportunity, Total, State, Invoice Amount, Amount Paid, and Amount Due. The 'Sales Invoices' table shows two invoices, with the second one having a total amount of $8,750.00 and a state of 'Pending'.

Action	Sales Order No	Date	Document Number	Document Type	Opportunity	State	Subtotal	Total
Edit Del	802832	11/1/2014	802842	Sales Order	Contract	Contract	$8,750.00	$8,750.00

Action	Sales Invoice No	Date	Opportunity	Total	State	Invoice Amount	Amount Paid	Amount Due
Edit Del	802833	10/1/2014		$600.00	Pending	$600.00	$600.00	$0.00
